We are a consulting company working worldwide independent of lines of business, focussing on services in the area of personnel management:

For companies of every kind - starting from medium-sized to the big companies - for associations and service organisations:

Personnel search and personnel selection in filling vacant positions:

- Search with advertisements
- Direct addressing/headhunting
- Combination of both methods

For staff being experienced, career-oriented and flexible and for soldiers of the federal armed forces:

Individual career consultancy to support the job progress.

For staff, persons taking up the job again, starters-up and students:

Applicants' consultancy to improve the chances on the labour market.

Thanks to a small committed team we are in the position to offer you and your company our services without much bureaucracy, precise, speedy under fair conditions (without the overhead costs of the bigger personnel consultancies). These cost advantages we convey to you with pleasure.

Mr H.-W. Dirks, the founder and manager, got - after a career as an army officer for several years - his expert knowledge of personnel management due to experience of some years in lots of management positions at different medium-sized and big companies. After that he worked for some years for famous personnel consultancies, i.e. as a senior consultant and as a partner. Then he established his own company.

Further details of our company and our services we are going to explain to you individually with pleasure.
